

KIDDIES' RIDE ENDS IN DEATH AFTER RUNAWAY

"Let's go for a little ride by ourselves," Jesus Hernandez, 7, jokingly remarked to Rosabela Belgado, 6, as he picked up the reins of a team from the seat of a hayrack about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Ten minutes later the girl was dead and the boy was in St. Joseph's hospital suffering from critical head injuries. Their ride was a wild one, ending when the frightened horses crashed into a telephone pole on Fourth street, just south of Jefferson.

The heavy hayrack turned over, crushing the heads of the two children beneath. The girl died en route to the hospital, a badly fractured skull causing death. The boy suffered a concussion of the brain.

R. Souffe, 737 East Jackson street, had left the team at a watering trough at Sixth and Jefferson streets while he went to see about some merchandise. When the boy picked up the reins the animals became frightened and ran at break-neck speed east on Jefferson street. At Fourth they attempted to make the turn south, ending in the crash into the telephone pole.

T. T. Scott and T. Dumdo, 22 South Fourth street, witnessed the accident, among others. They rushed to the aid of the injured children and, picking up the limp forms, carried them to a nearby automobile and sped to the hospital. The little girl died in the automobile.

Dr. H. W. Easton attended the boy at the hospital last night. The outcome of the injuries are doubtful, he said, and cannot be determined for a period of three or four days.

Both the girl and the boy lived at 711 East Jefferson street.

CONTEST FOR BEST ESSAY ON WINDOWS IS IN FULL SWING

The Republican's contest for the best descriptions of 20 of the show windows which had been arranged for the Fashion Show—a contest in which $300 in cash merchandise prizes has been offered—started last evening with the opening of the Show.

All during yesterday The Republican was flooded with inquiries concerning the contest, and it is expected that the contest will result in the receipt of hundreds of essays. That the entries are to be judged more by their general excellence in portraying the windows described and by their originality and neatness, rather than by the perfection of English composition has seemed to meet with general approval.

Following are the concerns whose windows are to be described and for the best descriptions of each of which a $10 cash merchandise prize will be given:

Arizona Seed and Floral company.
Barrows Furniture company.
The Boston Store.
Cinderella Bootery.
Donofrio Floral company.
Dishel Shoe company.
Mrs. J. Fort's Millinery Shop.
The Ford-Levy Furniture company.
Goldberg's.
Vie Hanny.
The Hub.
Hyder Brothers.
Korrick's.
McDougal and Casson.
The Parisian.
The J. C. Penny company.
The Paris Shop.
Ratner's Apparel Shop.
Southwestern Mercantile company.
Pointers About the Contest.

There will be 20 cash prizes of $10 each. Every prize will be a first prize.

Contestants may write on any one of the windows of the concerns listed below and each entry will be in competition only with other contestants describing the windows of the same concern.

Descriptions are not to exceed 300 words in length. A contestant may enter as many descriptions as he or she may care to, but no more than one description of any store's windows will be accepted from the same contestant.

Descriptions may be as original or unique as a contestant may care to make them. Perfection of English will be less judged than the general excellence of the description of the individual window. Neatness and the originality will weight also in the decision of the judges.

Any person except employees of the Phoenix newspapers and employees of the concerns whose windows are to be described may become entrants, though, of course, employees of any of the concerns may enter any of the contests except that of the firm by which they are employed.

There are, in fact, 20 separate contests, each of which has a $10 cash merchandise prize for the best window description.

Each contest will be judged by three officials, two from The Arizona Republican staff and one from the store whose window description is being judged.

All entries must be in The Republican office by 5 p. m. Thursday to be considered in the contest.

Each entry must be accompanied by the name and mail address of the contestant and must be plainly marked at the top with the name of the concern whose window is described. Entries should be mailed in envelope marked: Fashion Window Contest, Arizona Republican, Phoenix, Arizona.

When the winners have been decided by the judges, cash orders for merchandise, signed by The Arizona Republican, will be mailed to the winners. In each instance the merchandise order will be written on the concern whose window was described by the winner.

SHRINE MEETING IS TO BE HELD TONIGHT

There was only one thing wrong with a story which appeared yesterday morning concerning the big meeting of members of El Zarah temple of the Mytic Shrine. The story said "tonight," that is, Tuesday night, whereas the meeting will be held at 8 o'clock this (Wednesday) evening, at the Shrine auditorium.

But for all that it will be a big meeting. There will be a regular feed and a variety of numbers to entertain the nobles. The Shrine chapters will appear; there will be cards, and for subjects for serious discussion the Shriners will have the incoming minstrel show and the great fall ceremonial next month.

PIMACOTTON ASS'N INTERESTING TOPIC AT KIWANIS CLUB

An instructive and informative examination of the organization of the Arizona Pima-cotton Growers association by Attorney Fred J. Elliot was the treat offered to the Kiwanis club yesterday.

Elliot's address included a resume of the history of co-operative marketing and a prediction concerning co-operative buying, which appears to be the next step in what the speaker termed "orderly marketing."

The meeting was opened by President Royal W. Lecher, who read an announcement concerning the district convention at Albuquerque, N. M., on Friday and Saturday. Jack Martin was chosen as Phoenix delegate. The guests of the club were then introduced, after which Earl Drake took over the conduct of the meeting as chairman of the day.

Ledger Ford, representing the chamber of commerce committee on industrial week, gave a brief outline of the plans for the great industrial exposition to be held here in November, and J. Oscar Saxson made a short address on the H-Y lecture course for this winter. Jack Martin won the attendance prize, which was given by W. B. Wilkinson. The prize was a copy of "The Story of Arizona." Jim Leach, who won the prize last week, was presented with five Brunswick phonograph records by John Urner.

REPORT TRAFFIC IN LIQUOR BRISK HERE

Trafficking in contraband liquor is brisk in Phoenix and vicinity, according to police records. Evidence of increasing activity of the "bootleg fraternity" has been forthcoming within the past few days.

No less than 17 arrests on drunk and disorderly conduct charges have been made by city officers within the past 48 hours, police court records show. Fines varying from $5 to $10 were assessed and, in some instances, jail sentences were given.

Seldom since prohibition became effective in Arizona have police officials been confronted with so much bootleg activity, officers said yesterday. Drunkenness is on the increase here, they say, and point to police court records of the past few months to back up their assertions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Charles P. McCoy of Kentucky was selected today to be chairman of the interstate commerce commission for a term ending Dec. 1, 1922.
